LuLu launches food drive

A BAHRAIN hypermarket marked United Nations (UN) World Food Day yesterday with the launch of a new outreach programme designed to benefit the needy.

LuLu Hypermarket is encouraging people to buy food and put it in special collection bins.

The Food for All programme is being held under the patronage of the Royal Charity Organisation (RCO) which donated dry ration worth BD1,000, and food collected will be distributed to those in Bahrain who need it most.

RCO secretary-general Dr Mustafa Al Sayed attended the launch of the programme at the hypermarket's Ramli Mall outlet in A'ali.

It will continue until December 16. The donations will be distributed by the project's NGO partners Migrant Workers Protection Society and the Art of Living Foundation.

Also present at the event was Indian badminton champion Jwala Gutta.

Dr Al Sayed praised the LuLu Hypermarket and Your FM Radio for the initiative, saying, "Often people want to make a difference but lack a platform upon which to come together and change the world. By providing this platform, LuLu Hypermarket and Your FM Radio have done a great service to those who will receive these donations."

By timing the distribution of the collected ration to Bahrain's National Day, the LuLu Food for All project will enable the entire community to "share and care" and express their love for Bahrain, he said.

The UN celebrates World Food Day on October 16 every year.

■ Moda Mall has announced the winner of a Facebook competition held as part of its fashion festival that concluded last month. Shopper Aleena Ahmed received the prize, a Tag Heuer luxury fashion watch, after she was chosen at random from the people who had correctly answered a set of questions about the event. Above, mall general manager Kevin Kupier presents Ms Ahmed with her prize.

■ Shaikh Abdulla bin Khalid Al Khalifa chaired the third meeting of the Isa Cultural Centre board of trustees. Executive director Dr Khaldoun Aba Hussein said the session discussed progress of work on cultural programmes and projects. The board was briefed on preparations to hold a forum on Shaikh Isa bin Ali Al Khalifa in April on the sidelines of the 28th meeting of the GCC general secretariat for documentation and studies centres.
